

Every. Single. Day.

Cats, dogs, and small animals come through our doors who are homeless, abandoned, or sick.

And every single day, donors like you enable us to provide them with food, shelter, veterinary care, and affection until we can match them with loving, forever families.

Will you give before December 31st to save a pup like Pink?

Pink's life has been filled with hardship. She was born with a cleft palate and her legs were so severely deformed that she walked on her ankles and knees. Pink was tied to a pole and abandoned. She came to the shelter at only four months old. Many dogs in situations like Pink's take time to heal and adjust and are often fearful and withdrawn—but not Pink. She made friends everywhere she went, and even had a moment of fame when a short video of her became popular online. Many of Pink's new online friends lived in Westchester, and her supporters raised enough money for her first surgery, which was a success!

Your 2019 gift will save lives. Because of the generosity of donors like you, we are able to save thousands of animals like Pink every year.

Can we count on you to give this year?

Warmly,

John N. Feldtmose, President
Humane Society of Westchester

As the end of the year approaches, let's look back on our successes together. In 2019, because of support from donors like you, the Humane Society of Westchester was able to:

- Place more than 1,100 cats and dogs with loving families;
- Spay and neuter hundreds of feral cats, through our Trap, Neuter, Return program; and
- Provide humane education for young people throughout Westchester.

Our donors have allowed us to achieve new heights in 2019. With your help, we can do even better in 2020.

Please consider a year-end gift to the Humane Society of Westchester. Your gift will save lives, and ensure health and happiness for our animals.

Will you give before the end of the year to save the lives of thousands of animals?

When you look back at your year, what are you most proud of in 2019?

For some, it may be a personal achievement like finishing a marathon or watching your grandchildren graduate high school. For others, it is a professional achievement like a promotion or successful business venture.

Do you think about how many animals you saved? Or how you made your community a better place to live? I challenge you to think on these things this last day of the year.

Right now, you have the power to save a life—or many lives—and make your community a better place to live. Your gift can help the Humane Society of Westchester continue to find loving homes for thousands of abandoned and homeless animals every year.

Please consider a gift to the Humane Society of Westchester and make a difference you're proud of in 2019.

Warmly,

John N. Feldtmose, President
Humane Society of Westchester
